

What can I do in the event of a security meltdown?

DoSS guidelines for a Code Red Ocelot Alpha Alert.

Introduction

by Sir Edward Bicycle, MP, QC, KFC, DFS.

The Government's robust attitude to the Combined Forces of Evil hasn't all been a bed of roses, you know.

In our war against these forces, we have inevitably upset some people along the way and now they would like to kill you in ways too painful to explain at length in this short pamphlet.

This may seem unreasonable at first, but you will soon get used to it and quickly realise that there's simply no point in whining about it any more.

So I urge everyone to control their hysteria, go quietly into their homes and follow the very worthwhile advice in this leaflet.

From this point on, I will be in my bunker, so Cheerio for now!

Sir Edward
xx

Ed (Sir).

Do Nots & Don'ts

- Always obey the instructions of Police Officers, even if they appear younger or less intelligent than you.
- Before you hide under a table to protect yourself from a blast wave, check the table conforms to British Standards N-uc1e34r for use as a temporary shelter.
- Fasten all doors and windows to ensure that your neighbours can not hear you screaming "We're all going to die".

Now turn to next section →

BBC

Blunky Broadcasting Corporation

Stay tuned to the electric wireless for emergency government programming during the current state of emergency.

Radio GB 1984 kHz 999 m

9.30 AM The Archers

Eddie brings home a vial of Anthrax he bought from Baggy, but Clarrie isn't best pleased.

10.00 Al Qaeda or Bust!

Follow George and Tony as they travel around the world in search of the next place to bomb. (Rpt)

12.00 How Clean is Your Bomb?

Channel 4's Kim and Aggie get their feather dusters out on yet another dirty bomb contamination zone.

12.30 PM Foes

The One Where They Board All The Windows Up and Hide Under The Stairs.

1.00 Counterpoint

Ned Sherrin was unfortunately not among the casualties.

1.30 Hostility: You Call The Shots

This week, all manner of democratically selected ordnance rains down on Baghdad, courtesy of Roland Rivron and the BBC Light Fusiliers.

Emergency Numbers

Make a note here of any emergency numbers you may need during the emergency, in the event of another emergency.

The Lead-Shielded Pizza Delivery Co. Ltd

NHS Direct 24-Hour ringing tone

International Rescue - Thunderbird 2

Nostradamus Forecasting, plc

Others

.....